A Shock for Mavis

1. One evening, Toby and Henrietta arrived at the quarry to take the quarrymen home from work. Mavis was there and she decided to have some fun with them. "Have you two seen any of the little men that work in the quarry at night?"

2. Toby gulped, "Little men in the quarry at night, I don't believe you!" Mavis continued, "Haven't you noticed how tidy it is when you arrive in the mornings? The Trolls do that. They're little men made of stone who only come out at night!"

3. As Toby and Henrietta took the quarrymen home, Toby called to them, "Have any of you seen the Trolls that work in the quarry at night?" The quarrymen laughed, "Trolls?" they exclaimed. "That Mavis is having a joke with you!"

5. On the way, Toby whispered to Henrietta, "The Fat Controller never goes to the quarry at night, what can he be up to?" "Who knows," Henrietta replied. "But it's nearly dark and I'm worried about meeting those Trolls!" "Me, too!" said Toby, shaking on his tracks.

4. At the Main Station, the last of the quarrymen stepped out of Henrietta. Toby was just about to go to his shed when The Fat Controller called out, "I know it's late, Toby and Henrietta, but you're going back to the quarry, and I'm coming too!"

6. When they reached the quarry, Mavis was still working and she didn't notice them arrive. "I'm choosing some scrap stone for my rockery," explained The Fat Controller to Toby and Henrietta. "I don't have time to come here in the day, so I thought now would be a good time to do it."

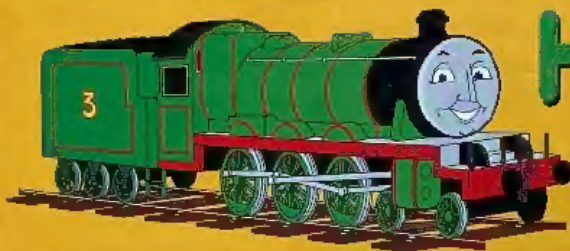

7. Minutes later, Mavis came across, "What are you two doing at the quarry at this time of night?" she hooted. Toby had a brainwave, "We've come to see the Trolls, and we've spotted one already, look, over there with the wheelbarrow!"

8. Toby continued, "It's like you said, Mavis, he's tidying up the quarry!" It was Mavis' turn to gulp, "I h..h..hope he's friendly, I have to spend the night here!" Then, as the figure drew nearer, Mavis gasped, "He looks a lot like The Fat Controller!" Toby chuckled, "Well, it is The Fat Controller really! I had you fooled for a moment though, didn't I, Mavis!"

The End

Henry's

Poor Mavis was pulling lots of trucks of coal when she skidded on an icy rail and slid off the track!

All about Quarries!

Look out, it's the Troublesome Trucks! They're at the quarry waiting to be loaded up with stone.

How many pipes can you see on the ground?

Here's Mavis, the diesel engine. She works hard at the quarry nearly every day.

What colour jackets are the two men wearing?

Mavis has a lot to learn about trucks! They do like to play tricks on her! Fortunately, Toby is usually around to help her and she's learning to become a Really Useful Engine.

Can you spot a crane in this picture?

Mavis is going to take some of these trucks full of stone to the harbour. There, the stone will be loaded onto boats and delivered to places all around Sodor.

What colour is the lorry?

Quarry Counting!

You'd find all of these things at Sodor Quarry.
Count how many things are in each row and write the numbers in the circles.
